Fund Manager Views

- ▶ FPI's continued to remain sellers in the Indian equity markets on concerns over market valuations and geopolitical risks. Since the start of the year, markets have become more sanguine as winners of last year – momentum and beta have given way to fundamentals and quality. The limelight on corporate governance has also brought back focus on companies with a proven management track record and profit pedigree.
- ▶ The rally in Indian equities is in stark contrast to the rest of the world plagued by pessimism on account of inflation and recessionary fears. Markets have already digested several macro-economic negatives. Going forward, we believe, oil inflation and currency will be key metrics to decide the trend for the Indian economy. While we keep a caution eye out for short term headwinds, we are now optimistic of an improving market trajectory.
- ▶ Oil below 100$ should help reduce inflationary pressures in the economy. This should bode well for economic growth and our portfolios are very well aligned to participate in growth stories of India.
